It Was Already Formed

It was already formed.

Not in front of you.

Before that.

Before you noticed
anything at all.

It didn’t come together
as you looked.

It was already
like that.

You thought
you were seeing it happen.

But you weren't.

You were arriving
after it had settled
into place.

You met it
after it was done.